

香港城市大學
City University of Hong Kong

City University of Hong Kong is a young and dynamic institution directly funded by the Government of the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region through the University Grants Committee (Hong Kong). Its strategic plan is an ambitious one, reflecting its aspirations to become one of the leading universities in the Asia Pacific region by achieving excellence in teaching and research. The student population is approximately 18,500 (11,800 full-time and 6,700 part-time). The medium of instruction is English.

Applications are invited for the following posts:

Professor/Associate Professor/Assistant Professor Department of Information Systems [Ref. B/523/39]

Applications are sought from IS scholars who can make a strong contribution to our innovative, rigorous and multi-disciplinary teaching and research programmes both as individuals and as team members. A PhD in information systems or a closely related area from a reputable (preferably business) school is required for academic appointments at all ranks. For appointment at Associate Professor level and above, a substantial track record of research and publications in major scholarly journals is essential. Applicants who are very close to completing a PhD degree may be considered for appointment at the Assistant Professor level, pending the award of the degree. Applicants having only a Master's degree need not apply.

Applicants are sought especially from scholars with teaching and research expertise in the business, organizational, managerial, or implementation aspects of one or more of the following areas: Electronic Commerce (including m-commerce), Knowledge Management (including data-warehousing and data-mining), IS Security and Audit, IT-enabled Organizational and Individual Learning, Web-based Information Systems Analysis and Design, IT Innovation Adoption and Diffusion.

The University also accepts nominations for the post of Professor and reserves the right not to fill the position.
